Colosimo explained that Faye Patton, an unlicensed LPN, presented the initial application to NSBN's CNA Advisory Committee. The committee was initially concerned that the cost of the program was not clearly stated, and had overall concerns with the number of programs hours and the course syllabus, which has since been revised. Facility administrator Barbara Wiggins and program instructor Michelle Kenyon were present to answer Board member questions. R. Colosimo informed the Board that she arranged a meeting to clarify the responsibilities of a program coordinator and to discuss the course objectives; however, the nurse that attended the meeting stated that she will be an instructor for the program, not the program coordinator. R. Colosimo also explained that although the course objectives have been revised they still need improvement. Medicine Cup has an academic administrator agreement with Desert Rose High School. Board staff was also notified that Medicine Cup Nursing Assistant Training Program has not applied for a license by the Commission on Post Secondary Education. Board members expressed concern that the name of the program may be misleading to students, because the CNA scope of practice does not include medications. It was moved and seconded the Board deny Medicine Cup initial application for a Nursing Assistant Training Program. MOTION CARRIED.

The application is the same as previously approved by the Board and both nursing assistant instructors previously taught for the program.
